The New Trail

UNIVERSITY OF ALBERTA, NOVEMBER, 1942

TO THE EDITORS AND READERS:

We have hit a new trail. Let us enter upon it in the spirit of adventure which possessed the pioneers. They opened this great country and found new living space for themselves and us. Now our search is for peace in which to cultivate our inheritance and find a better life.

The world war which consumes our wealth and drains our best blood is the reward of sins of omission. We failed to provide real equality of opportunity, whether for nations or for individuals. In this small world nothing less will do. We have fallen short and must do better.

Naturally we must begin where we are. That need not discourage us. Goethe said, "Let everyone sweep in front of his own door and the whole world will be clean."

Through The New Trail we can achieve a more unified front in our crusade for enlightenment. On behalf of the Advisory Board I wish good success to the Editors. Let us all—alumni, staff, students, friends, and well-wishers of the University—give them our loyal support. In helping them we shall help ourselves.

ROBERT NEWTON.

THE NEW TRAIL

A Quarterly Report of Campus Activities

An official publication of the University of Alberta and its Alumni Association

Distributed by the Department of Extension

Editor: F. M. Salter

Associate Editors: Donald Cameron, G. B. Taylor

Advisory Board:

The Honorable Mr. Justice Ford, Chancellor
Harold Hayward Parlee, Chairman of the Board of Governors
Robert Newton, President
G. B. Sanford, President of the Alumni

Quaecumque Bonae Famae

With this issue we reach a bend in the trail. A new vista opens before us.

Ours is not a rich University. Since the very beginning, its record is one long miracle of accomplishing much with little means. Many things have been done by individuals for love and loyalty, which all the wealth of the Indies could not have bought.

The story of The Trail is typical, a story many times repeated in many departments of the life of the University. D. J. Teviotdale, Wilfred Wees, J. T. Jones, A. J. Cook, R. V. Clark, Geoffrey Taylor, and others have laid all alumni under deep debts of gratitude and have earned rewards for devotion unlikely to be paid on this earth.

The Department of Extension could tell a similar story of loyalty to the University, hard work, and great accomplishments hampered by lack of funds.

With this issue the two paths join, we pool our narrow resources, and go on together around the bend expecting to encounter difficulties but supported by that faith which is "the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen." Our new banner is The New Trail, and the names at our masthead indicate the basis of organization. F. M. Salter has been asked to serve as provisional editor. It is proposed that the Director of Extension, Donald Cameron, and the Secretary of the Alumni Association, G. B. Taylor, act as ex officio associate editors. The Advisory Board consists of the Chancellor of the University, the Chairman of the Board of Governors, the President of the University, and the President of the Alumni Association. All have consented to act.

We cannot hope to set the world on fire. But we can trace the outlines of an ideal, fix the star to which our wagon may be hitched. Quite simply, we hope to make friends for the University. No institution that stands for truth [Quaecumque Vera] can have too many friends in this troubled latter age of the world.

We hope to make friends by telling the truth about the University. In time, if support should be forthcoming, we shall perhaps be able annually to give a complete picture of the intellectual and artistic life of the campus. This word campus we use deliberately, but in no narrow or restricted sense. Is it not set forth in the University Act that Convocation shall include all graduates of the University. The campus, to us, has no geographical limitations: it is any spot where two or three are gathered together to serve the University or to acknowledge her as their alma mater. A complete record of the intellectual and artistic accomplishment of our broad campus for any one year—what a record that would be! Of such things one might write in letters of gold.

We shall fall short of the ideal. Indeed, even to mention the ideal is to be overwhelmed by the poverty of our present means and the inadequacy of our effort. Nevertheless, even in this issue it may be seen that a thousand of those to whom green and gold have meaning are serving in uniform the cause of truth. Some have suffered wounds, imprisonment, or death. Greater love hath no man than this.

Turning the bend, greeting the vision of tomorrow, we appeal to the loyalty of our friends and to the magnanimity of our enemies, if such there be, in the ancient words of St. Paul unto the Philippians:

> Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true [about our University], whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report: if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things.

The Editor says:

It is our privilege—and we do not use the words idly—to print a poem which seizes something of the breath-taking and sobering quality that is Moraine Lake. The author is R. H. Blackburn, '40, '41, whose name, we prophesy, will one day be well-known in Canada. It seems singularly appropriate that the man who rides the winged horse should also be an airman. Blackburn is in the R.C.A.F. Heaven protect his wings!

We are equally happy to hang a few artistic drawings on our otherwise bare walls. The immediacy with which Dr. Rowan met our request increased our sense of obligation. He is doing splendid work in studying the wild life of our Province and in urging sane measures of conservation. The stamps have been sold with shooting licences —and separately; some are on sale in the University Bookstore—to gain funds to carry on the work of conservation.

It must surely be very rarely in the history of things that work of such exquisite artistic value has been lavished upon a purely utilitarian project. We shall be quite shameless and hope that further work by Dr. Rowan will in future lend value to our pages.

Students in War Time

As we enter the fourth year of the War, it is evident on all sides at the University campus that the student body has taken up the challenge, "Work or Fight." There is a new spirit in the air, a high seriousness beneath the natural effervescence of youth.

Every male student whose health permits is training with some branch of the armed forces. Some are members of off-campus naval and military reserve organizations; the majority belong to the COTC, the Auxiliary Battalion, or the new University Air Training Corps. Women students are similarly obliged, one hundred percent, to perform auxiliary services.

The great cut in the number of senior students in the COTC, caused by enlistments during the summer, and the large Freshman group, answering the Government's call for technically trained men, create difficulty in organization that taxes the ingenuity of the O.C., Lt.-Col. Warren, and his assistants. But an interesting program of drill, map-reading, and tactics has been worked out to occupy the Corps out of doors during the fine Fall weather, and lectures are being arranged for the wintry months. This year the indoor rifle range has been restored to the growing equipment of the campus "Army."

The military organization requires students to take a year of basic training in the Auxiliary Battalion before being selected for the Officers Training Corps. After the second year, all who desire to do so may proceed directly to Gordon Head for the final stages of officer training in the active service. After his two years in the campus military, a student is subject to call-up; and the Government's "work or fight" policy means that only students who do well in their studies will be permitted to continue with them.

The organization of the UATC under Squadron Leader R. M. Hardy is similar. Alumni will be pleased to learn that the RCAF has posted an alumnus of the University, Flying Officer J. C. Allen, '33, '37, to act as adjutant to the new unit. The first year, as in the Army, is devoted to basic training and such studies as elementary Navigation. The second year takes the prospective air crew well on their way toward active service. It is proposed that just as the Army receives COTC graduates at Gordon Head, shortening their route toward their first shoulder pips, so the UATC boys will by-pass Manning Pool, Tarmac Duty, and ITS, going straight to Elementary Flying Training Schools.

The training of women students is equally serious. Miss Mabel Patrick and her assistants have worked out a scheme that finds three hours of service a week as a minimum for every girl that is physically fit. St. John's Ambulance, First Aid, Home Nursing, ARP work, Signalling, Red Cross, clerical work, canteen work, work with precision instruments suggest the variety of service women students are eager to perform; and groups of girls may be seen drilling on the campus during the bright Autumn afternoons sometimes with a snap and precision that would warm the cockles of the flintiest old drill-sergeant's heart.

When it is remembered that Pembina, Assiniboia, and Athabaska Halls have been full of Air Force blue for more than a year, that St. Joseph's has been taken over by the Navy, and that courses in radio and other subjects for various armed forces have been added to professorial loads, it will be realized that the home campus is very much alive these days and that here as elsewhere the sons (and daughters) their fathers got are trying to improve upon the old stock!

Around the Campus

The ivies growing on the walls of the Arts and Medical buildings have never been lovelier than they have been this Fall. Their brilliant reds, almost impossibly bright in the sunshine or sobered in the shade, have stood out against the dusty brick and silver gray stone in sharp design. The grass of the lawns, also, has kept its green longer than usual this year after the deluges of midsummer rain, and campus trees have been beautiful in color. Yellow, as always, predominates, vivid gold in the sunshine, contrasting with the evergreens to remind us once again how appropriately our University colours were chosen.

The old question of finding room for all comers has been full of difficulty this year. Not only are students scattered all over town, but even classroom space is at a premium. With Navy lads taking courses in the buildings, there are many bottle-necks between hours, and when the Professors take their auld cloaks about them, they are no longer free to stride along empty corridors billowing out behind. Some are becoming adept in "broken-field running," and all are learning the art of side-step, spurt, lurch, and lunge. In the rotunda the newest Freshman and the oldest professor jostle and thrust together, quite literally "rubbing elbows." If there be virtue in the hem of the professorial gown, it has plenty of opportunity this year to perform miracles.

Classes are now under way; the November tests draw near. These, one gathers, will not this year be so painfully surprising to Freshmen, for it seems to be the impression on all sides that they are alert and workmanlike.

The Gateway is doing business at the old stand under new editors, Frank Meston, Mike Bevan, and Alan McDougal. They are doing a fine job of it. Indeed, when the idea of printing Dr. Rowan's stamps first came to us, we hugged it to our bosom with secret joy—only to find that The Gateway had had the same idea—and had it first. Charley Glebe, the editor of Casserole, which has been ununder attack for some years, has launched the column on a new policy: it is to be a contributors' column. The New Trail would like to be the first to congratulate him and praise his courage, to wish him luck. May the mantle of all jesters who have leavened the lump of this world descend upon your shoulders, young fellow, and speed your pen. And may the campus bring forth quips, and jests, and rhymes, and humour a-plenty to ease the grim and sour labours of a professional wit.

The Students' Directory and Handbook has come out enlarged and improved by Bob Macbeth; and the Year Book is under way, to be edited by Ron Goodwin.

Other organizations, student and faculty alike, are plowing their first furrows. The Philosophical Society, notably, with Cy Becker, '20, '22, speaking on "Northern Passage," got off on October 21st to a good start.

The new astronomical observatory, on which we hope to have an article for the next issue, is nearing completion, and the new infirmary has opened its doors to welcome student ailments.

A new touch of luxury has appeared in the Men's Common Room of the Medical building which has been translated into the Leighton Carling Conn Memorial Reading Room. It is tastefully decorated and arranged, filled with deep upholstered chairs and lounges, and most inviting and attractive. Those of us who have envied on behalf of our students the splendid Hart Houses of other Universities are pleased that the Memorial to Dr. Conn took this practical and delightful form.

The University farms are winding up their season, but a project about which we hope to publish an article in a later issue, is one which has received little attention. This is the plot where the Department of Pharmacy is growing medicinal herbs and producing drugs literally from the ground up.

To cover all the activities of the campus would obviously require a very lengthy article which the limitations of space forbid. These notes may be suggestive of the teeming, many-sided activity of a modern university.

In Memoriam

HARRY RANDALL WEBB

It is an honor to pay the tribute of a friend to the memory of Harry Webb. Moulded during undergraduate years, that memory is today strong and fresh even as he was perpetually vigorous and youthful of spirit. His frank, friendly manner, his clear and forceful attacks on the problems he faced, whether social or professional, his firm and uncompromising application of standards and ideals—these are the facets of his strongly formed character which his friends will ever remember. These underlying strengths were often masked by his disarmingly youthful manner, only to reappear in his varied skills which so happily supplemented his marked professional abilities. The stamp of his personality was a firm one; it will remain with us as fresh and vigorous as was the man himself.

STUART JAFFARY.

JOHN ALEXANDER WEIR

After a brilliant career as a student, followed by a period of active military service, Dean Weir came to the University as Head of the School of Law, and in 1926 became first Dean of the Faculty of Law. Aided by an able staff of lecturers, he quickly won for the School a secure reputation throughout the Dominion. His profound learning in many branches of Law, his ability as a stimulating teacher, and his unremitting study to increase his learning and his usefulness, won him the respect and admiration of his students, and of the legal profession, to whose interest and advancement he gave able and ungrudging care.

To Dean Weir, the study of Law was no mere technical training for professional life; he regarded it as one of the greatest humanistic disciplines. His life-long study of the function of law in society led him to the profound conviction that codified law is the main defence of civilized man against the arbitrary acts of individuals and of states. It was from this point of view that he found himself constrained to assess —at times to the discouragement of enthusiasts—the innumerable proposals of the day for the amelioration of our economic, political, and social life. His cool and clear judgment on such matters did not, however, conceal from those who knew him best his warm concern for the welfare and advancement of humanity.

His colleagues regret his early death, and the loss, with him, of that further contribution to the life and thought of the University which, as scholar and teacher, he was so well qualified to make.

D. E. CAMERON.

CLYO JACKSON

The death of Professor Clyo Jackson of St. Stephen's College on September 13th, after a brief illness, came as a great shock to students and faculty alike, and indeed to all who knew him.

Professor Jackson was a stimulating teacher, an inspiring preacher, and a careful scholar. Not only did he frequently contribute to learned periodicals, but he was asked to prepare the essay, "The Hellenization of Jewish Messianism in Early Christianity" for the Festschrift in honor of Professor Case, "Environmental Factors in Christian History," published by the Chicago University Press in 1939. His genial personality, his ready wit, his broad sympathies, and his kindly manner endeared him to his students, to his colleagues, and to a multitude of friends throughout the Province. No one ever appealed to him for advice or help in vain. He gave himself unstintingly to his students and to the Church which he served. In his premature death St. Stephen's College has lost a beloved Professor, the University a fine example of a Christian gentleman, the Alberta Conference one of its best preachers, and the United Church of Canada one of its most gifted New Testament scholars.

". . . Christes lore, and his apostles twelve,
He taughte, and first he folwed it himselve."

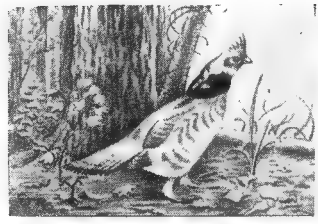
Faculty Changes

The University has suffered severe losses during the summer in the deaths of Dean Weir, Dr. Clyo Jackson, and Prof. H. R. Webb. It has also lost temporarily to the armed forces J. H. Whyte (Botany), Robert Fritz (Men's Athletics), J. T. Jones (English), E. J. H. Greene and H. Jacobs (Modern Languages), W. Orobko and Paul Hervieux (Dentistry), and L. G. Thomas (History). Several resignations have also occurred: Miss Vera Major (Household Economics), E. M. Gunderson (Accounting), A. M. Revell and M. M. Dunsworth (Dentistry).

It has not been possible to replace all these persons at once, but some of these and earlier vacancies have been filled by the following appointments: Miss Mary M. Winspear (Instructor in English and Adviser to Women Students), Miss Mary H. Faunt and Albert L. Cru (Modern Languages), S. G. Davis (Chemistry), Gordon Skinner and Clem L. King (Commerce), Miss Muriel E. M. Richards (Household Economics), A. R. Greig, D. B. Menzies, L. H. McManus, Elio d'Appolonia, George Ford, and R. N. McManus (Applied Science), J. H. Brown (Entomology, replacing R. W. Salt who had been on loan from the Dominion Department of Agriculture), W. L. Dunkley (Dairying), Geo. H. Steer (Law), J. R. Vant, J. O. Baker, Charles Lefebre, J. B. MacKay, D. R. Wilson, W. W. Eadie, Jules Tuba, George Fortier, and R. H. Horner (Medicine), W. S. Hamilton, W. P. Calhoun, R. R. McIntyre, J. C. Ward, F. S. Coman, G. Y. Barnett, R. A. Rooney, and C. D. Husband (Dentistry), Miss L. Thompson (Nursing), and Miss Helen Stewart (Extension).

R. E. Carlyle has returned to the Department of Soils on discharge from the Army. R. D. Sinclair has been appointed Dean of Agriculture, Miss Helen McArthur Acting Director of the School of Nursing, and W. S. Hamilton Director of the School of Dentistry.



The University Radio Programme

November 1st to December 31st, 1942

In joining hands with the Alumni publication, The Trail, under the title of The New Trail, the University Radio programme which has heretofore been published separately and only once during the broadcasting term, will from now on be published quarterly.

With this issue of the programme, CKUA enters its 16th year of broadcasting. During that time the station has made many friends both among members of the Alumni and the general public. This year's programme is the most comprehensive yet issued, and we hope that in it will be found material of public information, education, and entertainment. Whether you are interested in the news of the day, farm news, Dominion and Provincial Government policy, education and health, or the best of music and drama, you will find it all on CKUA's wave-length of 580 kilocycles.

CKUA is owned and operated by the University of Alberta for the people of Alberta; we hope that listeners within the radius of the station's coverage area will get the habit of listening to the University station.

DONALD CAMERON,
Director, Dept. of Extension,
Manager, CKUA.

THE ROUND TABLE

THE COMMON MAN IN THE POST-WAR WORLD (CKUA and CJCJ)

Thursdays, 10:30 p.m.

The Round Table discussion group has for years been one of the feature programmes on CKUA. This year the programme will again go on the air as a public forum for the purpose of discussing topics of public interest. The programme will be released in Calgary over station CJCJ on Thursday nights at 10:30.

Programmes will alternate between Calgary and Edmonton each week. Speakers who will take part in the discussions are men and women of varying political views who are recognized as being among the leaders of public thought in their communities. Among those who will take part in this year's programme are the following:

From Calgary:

Mr. C. A. Clapperton	Magistrate I. F. Fitch
Mr. W. Norman Smith	Rev. Frank Harback
Mr. Alex. Calhoun	Mr. W. A. Hobbs

From Edmonton:

Dr. Walter Johns
Mr. Louis Hyndman
Mrs. F. C. Butterworth
Mr. David Duncan
Mr. E. W. S. Kane

ALBERTA SCHOOL BROADCASTS (CKUA and CFCN)

Monday, Wednesday, Thursday, 2:20 p.m. (CKUA)

Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, 2:20 p.m. (CFCN)

CKUA and CFCN will co-operate in the School Broadcast series. Listeners should understand that the same program will not be broadcast from both stations at the same time.

CORRESPONDENCE COURSES (CKUA)

Tuesdays and Thursdays at 8:45 p.m.

French.—The first half of the period is devoted to French 1, the second to French 2. This year the entire programme is being conducted by the three French instructors of the Correspondence School Branch, Miss Allen, Mrs. Werry, and Mr. Lavallée. Formerly, there was much dependence on Linguaphone records, but it is felt that the new method will bring a more personal touch to the instruction. A larger number of songs and dialogues than have been used heretofore is being introduced to increase the enjoyment and conversational value of the course.

Wednesdays at 8:15 p.m.

These Make History. Mr. L. Bercuson describes the men and women who are shaping the fates of nations today. Each week the background, appearance, and career of such colorful figures as Chiang-Kai Shek, Gandhi, Churchill, and Timoshenko are depicted.

Wednesdays at 8:30 p.m.

Choose Your World (Vocations and Guidance). To help students select their vocations intelligently, talks, dialogues, and playlets are given which feature men and women who have achieved success in their chosen occupations. An additional item on this programme is the "Question Box" in which a wide range of students' problems are answered. Instructors of the Correspondence School Branch are also heard on this programme.

EDUCATIONAL FORUM (CKUA)

Thursdays, 6:45 p.m.

Nov. 5—Introduction: Home and School Associations — C. Kenway
12—Comparison of Progressive and Traditional Educational Methods in the Intermediate School — K. Argue
19—Comparison of Progressive and Traditional Educational Methods in the High School — M. E. LaZerte
26—The Relation of the School to the New Social Order — H. C. Newlands

The programme for November is given above. Further subjects will be selected from topics submitted by various Home and School Associations. Speakers will be provided by the Faculty of Education, by the Provincial Department of Education, by teachers, and by others interested in education and the promotion of a better understanding between the home and the school.

SOCIETE D'ENSEIGNEMENT POSTSCOLAIRE (CKUA)

STUDENT PRESENTATIONS (CKUA)

Tuesday at 6:45 p.m.

"Gateway News," a weekly summary of University News and student activities. It is hoped that a programme of music and drama can be arranged for the very near future.

MUSIC PROGRAMMES (CKUA)

The Symphony Hour, which is presented every evening from 7:00 to 8:00 from Monday to Friday, brings to our listeners, through the medium of recordings, an hour of good music. The Friday presentation is devoted to compositions requested by listeners.

STAGE DOOR REVIEW (CKUA)

Fridays at 6:45 p.m.

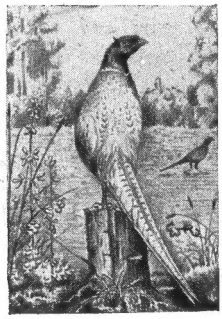
A programme of what's happening in the world of theatre, with news from the dramatic societies of the Province of Alberta and notes on acting, stagecraft, and directing to help in community play productions.

STUDIO PROGRAMMES (CKUA)

Through the season local artists will be heard in studio recitals at times to be announced.

TO OUR LISTENERS

We are pleased to receive the comments of our listeners and invite their friendly co-operation at all times.



MORAINE LAKE

There is no time here. These are cinders of it
Spilled from the forges of the gods of thunder
Who, with their ringing hammers striking fire,
Beat out the rock that still was hot with time,
But now there is no time; the noiseless shadows
Of yesterday sweep from the snow-fast peaks
To clasp hands with the shadows of tomorrow
Across the ice-blue water of the ages,
And all are one, for time is long burned out.
Man, who has made a dial and called it time,
Finds the word useless here, as if he held
A candle to the sun, for here the gods
Have built a Babel where all tongues are one
In the still, timeless language of the heart.
